Sarah McLachlan

Grammy Award-winning Music Legend

Sarah McLachlan has emerged as one of Canada's most beloved singers and a leading artist on the world stage of popular music. McLachlan has paralleled her music career with a keen devotion to causes she finds most close to her heart.

Born in Halifax, Nova Scotia in 1968, she studied classical piano, guitar and voice and was first discovered fronting a new wave band in 1985 by the then-fledgling Vancouver-based company Nettwerk Records. The label signed the 19-year-old singer to a recording contract in 1987.

In 1996, McLachlan conceived and launched the much-heralded Lilith Fair tour, a multi-artist bill showcasing the talents of women performers from around the world. The touring festival brought together two million people over its three-year history (1997-1999) and raised more than $7 million for charities. Since her debut album Solace in 1988, every one of her studio and live albums and videos has been certified gold, platinum, or multi-platinum by the RIAA. Sarah has sold over 40 million recordings worldwide, and has won three Grammy Awards and eight Juno Awards.

Over her career, McLachlan has received numerous entertainment and achievement distinctions. In 2001, she was awarded the Order of Canada and The Order of British Columbia.

In 2003, the singer founded the Sarah McLachlan Music Outreach Program for the purpose of providing free music education classes to inner city youths whose school music programs have been reduced or abolished by budget cuts.

Sarah is also an avid supporter of the ASPCA and animal welfare. She filmed a two-minute advertisement for the organization and McLachlan's appeal for donations has raised $30 million for the ASPCA since it began to air in 2006. Recently Sarah also received the Allan Waters Humanitarian Award at the 2009 Juno awards.

We are truly grateful to Sarah McLachlan for the generosity of her time and talent to the 20th Annual Hollywood Charity Horse Show.
